One of only a handful of Scottish routes. Nice scenarios and train-model too.. Very good add on, excellent route. Class 170 needs updating in terms of sounds and detail. Lots of potential in this route, ECS runs, all stops, express and freight.. Brilliant DLC even if it is one of the older routes. Lots of detail in the route with things such as the Falkirk stadium and BT Murrayfield modelled. There is also a free extension available on the steam workshop which extends the route from Waverley to Carstairs. The class 170 is beginning to show its age but is still a brilliant DMU, even if it is lacking in features compared to some of the more recently modelled trains. 100% recommend this DLC.. Ok, so I bought this route on sale last week. I actually just wanted the Class 170 but decided to buy the package since the price is now the same (yeah yeah, sale will come, but still, more value for money and stuff.) This route is actually pretty versatile, there is a lot of possibility for freight but also opportunities for express/stopping trains on this route. You don't need hours to finish the whole route but there is enough track to keep you occupied. The quality is quite good even though I play only with a laptop with less than average specs. I'd recommend this route over the standalone Class 170 package. Oh, to answer the question for everyone who wants to know it; the Class 170 comes with ALL liveries, not just the Scottish ones, also the others, including Class 171 Southern.. very nice route to drive on, looks good in any quality, high or low settings also there are a variety of routes you can travel on, great fun. The Train Simulator alternate to Mary Poppins carpetbag. There are so many possibilities that this route gives you to not just driving trains, but to creating scenarios. The routes are amazing to drive and the Scottish weather options bring this route to life. The Turbostar is good to drive and it comes with other liveries too. Definitely recommended.. 100% i recommend you use this map i thought DTG is not going to make but they did i hope they make more of these kind of routes.. Brilliant DLC even if it is one of the older routes. Lots of detail in the route with things such as the Falkirk stadium and BT Murrayfield modelled. There is also a free extension available on the steam workshop which extends the route from Waverley to Carstairs. The class 170 is beginning to show its age but is still a brilliant DMU, even if it is lacking in features compared to some of the more recently modelled trains. 100% recommend this DLC.
